Overview

On 1 March 2013, the AER approved an application from Infigen Energy Holdings Pty Ltd (IEH) for electricity retailer authorisation under the National Energy Retail Law. IEH is authorised to retail electricity as and when the National Energy Retail Law is adopted in each participating jurisdiction.

IEH is a wholly owned subsidiary of Infigen Energy Limited (Infigen), which is a specialist renewable energy business that develops, builds, owns and operates wind and solar farms across Australia. Infigen intends to expand its business through IEH and retail electricity to large customers only.

The AER sought submissions on the application, and on the applicant's ability to meet the entry criteria, as prescribed by section 90 of the Retail Law, and set out in the AER's Retailer authorisation guideline. Submissions were due by Friday 8 February 2013. No submissions were received.

Change of registered business name

On 31 May 2021 Infigen Energy Holdings Pty Limited changed its name to Iberdrola Australia Holdings Pty Limited.
